A small issue has come up with the update to the A-Z index pages. The library has added the new header and footer to the A-Z index pages, but they have moved the pages over to the Library website. This should be a top-tier page (not part of the Library website) with the larger yellow navigation bar. The extra library-specific website navigation is confusing. It is a UNCG website index, not a library index.

Todd and Lyda have discussed the possibility of combining the A-Z index with the campus directory. (This is a larger discussion involving technical issues. The campus directory is driven by Banner.)

Proposal: IOC will send a letter to the Library asking them to change the A-Z index pages so they match the other top-tier pages.

Q - Why is the A-Z function a library responsibility?

A - No idea. This decision pre-dates Lyda. It could be that they volunteered way back when or maybe someone at the time assigned it to the library.

The A-Z index is database driven.

The first step would be for IOC to send a letter to the library requesting that they change the page to match the other top-tier pages.

Top-tier page assignments

Update: Executive staff wanted the "Prospective Students" link at the top of the UNCG homepage to go directly to the new Undergraduate Admissions website. Todd and his team made that happen, but the Grad School wasn't happy (they thought it was too hard for graduate prospects to find the Grad School from the undergrad site.) Everything has since been put back the way it was originally (with a landing page with links to undergrad & graduate admissions sites) per the Provost.

Looking at top-tier page assignments Google document and reviewing progress thus far.

The Chancellor and executive staff are asking about this and very interested in IOC's recommendations for the top-tier pages.

Would like to stay on target - assignments still need to be completed by the June IOC meeting. The recommendations will then go to Lyda & Todd to review.

No date has been set for the eventual proposed changes to be completed. This will depend on the recommendations and the time needed to implement them.

Some IOC members have not had time to work on their assignments yet.

Jim Clotfelter and Helen Hebert have shared that IOC is working on this issue with the Chancellor.

Bo Bodenhammer - What is the purpose of IOC? Is it an oversight committee or a working group? Bo indicated he doesn't have time to complete outside work for the committee.

Lyda - Jim Clotfelter, who oversees the IOC, is aware of the working groups and has approved IOC plans with the chancellor. Jim/Chancellor support these plans.

Lyda noted that the IOC has been able to accomplish a lot in two years. Many substantial changes have been made to the UNCG webpages that needed to happen.

Community & Friends [Emily Janke]

Had a colleague create a spreadsheet with the current community & friends links (indicating which are up-to-date and which are broken or possibly outdated or unnecessary.)

Looking at overlap with the new Community Engagement site that is currently being created. The new site will have the IMSC new look and feel. The CE site will help with SAC and Carnegie community engagement rankings.

Continuing Education & Outreach

This page may be outdated as the content is available in other places.

The title may be outdated. "Continuing Education" is an outdated term.

May be some overlap with the Community Engagement site under development.

Other

Matt Libera - Q about HTML5 code validation - one item in the UNCG web assets doesn't validate with HTML5.

Lyda referred Matt to Todd and Andrew Marker in ITS to help with that technical issue.
