Review of New Design Pages

Prospective Page

To satisfy the issue with undergraduate and graduate schools, there is one page linked from the admissions page that will give the visitor the opportunity to visit either site.

Current Students

We made no changes to this and had no significant changes.

Jason Fleck - will it say commencement or specify the month of the commencement?

Lyda - the original thinking we might be able to pull from the press releases we do. Based on the way we are handling the carousel, we may have to change that.

Faculty/Staff

Announcements - this section will be used for emergency notification - adverse weather, etc. It will be implemented the same way on any page. The color will be something that stands out and hard to miss. When an emergency happens, it will appear on the home page, news page. We will have a conversation with EPART or a subcommittee from that group regarding which pages it should appear on.

Center Section - Changes have been made.

Bottom Section - changes made including expansion of titles, moving links and categories, etc. We tried to stick to departments who provide services to employees.

Jason - How often do people check/look at the A-Z index. It is a manual list the library keeps. Do we still need it? It seems like it gets smaller and smaller. We have our own google search appliance.

Sean - open to having that tile opened to something else.

Lyda - would there be something else we would like to push?

Sean - perhaps Faculty Senate and Staff Senate.

Arts & Entertainment

No changes.

Academics

Bo has sent Lyda a list to update the academic department lists.

Bottom (Yellow section) - Lyda is working with the provost on these two lists.

Next Steps

Mitre will finish the work and provide Todd/Andrew with the necessary files, etc. to start work.

Matt and Lyda will need further discussion to determine how the RSS feeds will drive the arts & sciences calendar.
